BESPOKE ADVICE THAT MEETS YOUR UNIQUE NEEDS

Travel and risk managers are exposed to challenging questions every day, for example:

- How safe is it to send people to a particular country?
- How many executives should travel together at one time?
- Which corporate accommodation offers the safest option in a high-risk country?

Our team of experts can assist you in all areas related to travel risk management. Whether you are a corporate risk manager requiring last minute support in mitigating the risk of sending an employee into a high-risk environment or a travel manager organising a corporate event overseas, we can offer expert advice and support.

Organisations with employees that travel for business have a duty of care to keep them safe on business travel. Businesses can be fined and prosecuted if something goes wrong for an employee while travelling for business. The new ISO 31030 global standard for travel risk management provides the first global standard to describe the responsibilities of employers towards travelling staff. Knowing your responsibilities as an employer has never been more critical.

WHAT CONSULTANCY DO WE OFFER?

Our senior management team is made up of former police officers and travel management experts at the most senior level. Our team was responsible for shaping ISO 31030 and creating the UK guidance on the standard issued by BSI.

We can help you understand the risk profile of your travelling employees, your responsibilities towards the safety and security of your people and help you create and maintain travel risk management policies and procedures at the highest levels. Our independently audited accreditation programmes help organisations demonstrate their compliance with ISO 31030. We can also offer an immediate response to any issues related to travel risk management.

Here are a few examples of our bespoke consultancy services:

- One-to-one sessions on topics of your choice. We can help you understand how best to manage safety and security risks, from introductory training sessions to in-depth consultancy
- Group consultancy for teams looking to enhance their knowledge of safety and security risks in corporate travel
- Bespoke training for employees looking to ensure their safety and security procedures are consistent across all national and international sites
- Assistance with last minute corporate trips to ensure all elements of safety and security have been considered
- Crisis management. When things go wrong, or an employee is stuck abroad we can help you develop a credible plan for safe travel home
- Share tips for best practice

WHY CHOOSE GSA?

Our management team is made up of former police officers, counter terrorism experts, and travel management experts at the most senior level. We helped develop ISO 31030 and create the UK guidance on the standard issued by BSI. We have decades of experience in recognising the risks around hotels and serviced accommodation and helping organisations with travelling employees address these proactively.

We want to change how corporate travel risk management operates by giving organisations the tools and confidence to build robust travel risk management policies and procedures and demonstrate duty of care.
